

FINANCIAL AND SOCIAL REGULATIONS Fall 2017

Welcome to the American University in Cairo! You are about to begin one of the most exciting and challenging life experiences, living and studying in Cairo, Egypt. During your stay in Cairo, you will be in an environment of different cultures, people, events, and ideas. Living in student residences makes it easy to meet new people, and adapt to a new environment. We strongly recommend that International students reserve housing for the first semester. Egyptian students from other cities or whose parents live abroad and international students from around the world choose to live in student residences where they have the opportunity to participate in an active socio-educational program and be part of a learning community.

The American University in Cairo offers excellent residence facilities for students at the On-Campus Residence located in AUC's New Cairo campus.

2. Point System:

Overview

The point system was developed in order to make the disciplinary sanctioning process clearer, more consistent, and more predictable for residents. Under the point system, a resident found responsible for violating the Office of Residential Life’s rules and regulation is assigned points according to the table below. Points are cumulative and can only be assigned after the student had the chance to defend his/her case through a meeting at the Office of Residential Life. If a resident accumulates 5 points or 3 incidents will be called into the office.
