The right of the majority ultimately to rule.

The right of the minority to be heard.

The right of the individual to participate in the decision making process.

The principle of one thing at a time.

The principle of balance between affirmative and negative.

The rules rule.

The principle of parliamentary courtesy requires that decorum is understood. One debates measures, not members, and speakers treat one another with the finest decencies of society.

Constitution

1. Mission

The Senate is the representative council of the university faculty, with the participation of students, staff, and administration. It ensures faculty participation in governance and in the discussion of issues important to the university community. It aims to facilitate communication among University constituencies and to foster mutual respect and cooperation among the faculty of the various departments and disciplines, students, and staff. The Senate provides a forum for considering matters directly related to the wellbeing of the AUC community. Its resolutions are transmitted to the president of the University for consideration and appropriate action.

2. Functions

Article 2.0 The Senate will develop, review, approve, and monitor curricula and programs, standards of research and instruction, personnel policies for faculty, policies concerning the admission and academic performance of students, and any other matters relevant to its mission.

Article 2.1 The Senate will ensure proper consideration of grievances as per the Faculty Handbook, which has replaced the Personnel Policies and Procedures (PPP) document.

Article 2.2 The Senate will report the results of its deliberations to the president and to its constituent bodies. The president will report in a timely fashion to the Senate on action taken on its recommendations.

3. Amendments

Article 3.0 Proposals for amendments to the Constitution of the Senate may be initiated by the chair of the Senate or by a written petition of at least four senators. The chair of the Senate will distribute the proposed amendment at the next regular meeting of the Senate. The proposed amendment will be ratified by an affirmative vote of a two-thirds majority of all voting members of the Senate.

Article 3.1 Amendments to the Constitution of the Senate require ratification by the Board of Trustees.

Bylaws

1 Organization

Article 1.0 For the purposes of these bylaws, "faculty" means full-time teaching, research, and library staff holding the rank of instructor, language teacher, or above, with regular appointments as defined by the Faculty Handbook .

Article 1.1 Senators shall be elected before May for two-year terms that begin September 1 and end August 31. In the event that a senator resigns, the constituency concerned shall be asked to return another senator to fill the remainder of the term. Department chairs and/or unit heads are responsible for ensuring that elections are held. Elections to senate offices are carried out before the end of the academic year by continuing and newly-elected senators. There shall be no substitutes or proxies in place of absent senators. Senators who go on leave shall be considered to have resigned, and the constituency that elected them shall return a replacement for the remainder of their term. All duly elected senators shall be voting members of the Senate.

Article 1.2 Full-time faculty members of each academic department, non-teaching academic unit, and SCE shall return two senators. Departments with nine or fewer full-time faculty members and the office of the Dean of Undergraduate Studies shall return one senator. Faculty members must have served a minimum of two consecutive years at AUC before election. At least one of the faculty members returned by departments that are eligible to return two senators and have faculty with tenure or who are senior instructors, must be tenured or at one of the two senior instructor ranks. Otherwise, such departments shall return only one senator. Senate membership includes one Senator elected at-large from each of the School of Humanities and Social Sciences, the School of Science and Engineering, the School of Business, the School of Global Affairs and Public Policy, the Graduate School of Education, the School of Continuing Education and the Academy of Liberal Arts. At-large Senators are elected at the last general faculty meeting of the academic year, with nominees restricted to their respective schools, but with all full-time faculty members eligible to vote.

Article 1.3 Only seven students will serve on the University Senate to include a student from the Graduate Student Association, and an international student. The remaining students will represent different schools and elected bodies, in accordance with guidelines of the Office of Student Development. The nominations will be communicated to the University Senate through the Office of Student Development.

Article 1.4 The University Staff through the HR office shall provide two senators according to established election procedures.

Article 1.5 The University President, University Counselor, Executive Vice President for administration and Finance, Vice-President for Student Affairs, Vice President for Institutional Advancement, and Associate Provosts of the University shall be ex officio, non-voting members of the Senate. The University Provost, Dean of Libraries and Learning Technologies, Dean of Graduate Studies, Dean of undergraduate studies, Dean of students and Deans of the schools in the academic area shall be ex officio, voting members of the Senate.

Article 1.6 The Senate shall elect by majority vote the following officers from its elected membership: a chair, a vice-chair, and a secretary. The Chair of the Senate represents the faculty as a whole in circumstances where that is appropriate.

Article 1.7 An executive committee shall set the time and place of meetings of the Senate and organize and set the agenda. It shall act for the Senate as a whole in emergencies between Senate meetings. The Executive Committee shall also act as a committee on organization and originate all matters pertaining to Senate organization, by-laws, and operational procedures. Members of the Executive Committee shall be the officers of the Senate, the chairs of the standing committees, and two additional members elected at large from the membership of the Senate.

Article 1.8 The Senate has the following standing committees:

- a) The Curriculum Committee, which reviews, approves, and monitors curricula and programs. It is responsible for the contents of the AUC Catalog.
- b) The Academic Affairs Committee, which reviews, approves, and monitors standards of research and instruction, policies concerning grading, and other matters pertaining to the academic mission of the University.
- c) The Faculty Affairs Committee, which develops, reviews, approves, and monitors policies and other matters relating to all faculty personnel matters. It is responsible for the contents of the faculty handbook.
- d) The Student Affairs Committee, which reviews, approves, and monitors policies concerning the admission and academic performance of students. It is responsible for standards for admissions, scholarships, student academic performance, graduation requirements, and honors.
- e) The Administrative Affairs Committee, which reviews and monitors matters related to the administration of the University, safety, planning, and practices.
- f) The Grievance Committee, which considers grievances as per the Faculty Handbook.
- g) The Budget Review Committee, which ensures faculty involvement and consultation in the annual budget preparation process, including communicating to the President and senior administrators the views of the Senate on major financial, budgetary, and policy issues.

Article 1.9 Consistent with the Senate's role as stated in the Mission Statement of the Senate Constitution, the members of the standing committees shall be teaching and research faculty, students and staff where appropriate, and other senators or non-senator student representatives when requested by any standing committee.

Article 1.10 The Executive Committee may, as it deems necessary, establish additional standing committees and standing sub-committees. It may also establish ad hoc committees to address specific issues of concern to the Senate; these shall have a specified charge and lifetime. The Senate or any of its committees or sub-committees, at their discretion, may request others to attend their meetings.

2 Operations

Article 2.0 The Senate shall meet at least monthly during the academic year and shall be in recess during the summer and winter breaks.

Article 2.1 The Chair of the Senate may call emergency meetings, and special meetings may be requested by ten or more senators, by the constituent bodies, or by any of the standing committees.

Article 2.2 The chair of the Senate may call meetings of the general faculty. There shall be at least one such meeting in each semester, and others as needed. Such general meetings of the faculty are a forum for information and discussion rather than for making decisions.

Article 2.3 Each of the Senate committees and subcommittees shall elect a chair by majority vote. Chairs of standing committees shall be faculty members who are tenured or have served at least one year on the Senate. All committees shall schedule their own meetings, and establish their own internal procedures.

Article 2.4 All official deliberations of the Senate shall be conducted according to Robert's Rules of Order, except when covered by a specific by-law of the Senate.

Article 2.5 All senate meetings are open to the AUC community; proper identification is required. Only senate members can engage in the discussions unless others are invited to participate in the discussion.

Article 2.6 A simple majority of membership shall constitute a quorum for all meetings of the Senate. A quorum is necessary to conduct official business.

Article 2.7 Matters submitted to the Senate are sent to the Chair and evaluated by the Executive Committee. The Executive Committee determines whether the matters should be considered by the full Senate, debated in a standing or ad hoc committee, or disposed of otherwise, and informs the Senate of the action taken.

Article 2.8 All resolutions must be relevant to the functions of the Senate as defined in the Mission Statement. The Chair of the Senate shall make this determination, subject to appeal to the Executive Committee.

Article 2.9 All committee resolutions shall be submitted to the Senate via the Executive Committee. The Executive Committee shall place those resolutions which it believes require the endorsement of the full Senate on the Senate's agenda for approval. The Senate shall be informed of all Executive Committee resolutions not placed on the agenda, and may overrule Executive Committee decisions with a two-thirds majority of members present.

Article 2.10 The Executive Committee, in its role as an organization committee, nominates representatives of the Senate to serve on non-Senate committees or in individual posts when required and shall inform the Senate of all such nominations.

Article 2.11 The outgoing Senate Executive Committee shall meet after the spring elections and make committee assignments for the following year. It shall take into consideration such factors as past experience, the preference of the senator, and the need for balanced and well-structured committees.

Article 2.12 Senate resolutions take effect at the beginning of the academic year following adoption by the Senate and approval by the president, unless specified otherwise.

Article 2.13 Senators may only be nominated for Senate offices or places on committees if present at the meeting at which the relevant elections take place, unless they have previously communicated a willingness to be nominated.

Article 2.14 Except for emergency meetings, members shall be notified in writing within one week before any scheduled or non-scheduled meeting. The notification shall normally include an agenda and relevant documents.

Article 2.15 The Senate affirms that each department of the university shall establish procedures for self-governance based on the participation of the faculty.

3 Amendments

Article 3.0 Proposals for amendments to the Bylaws of the Senate may be initiated by the chair of the Senate or by a written petition of at least four senators. The chair of the Senate shall distribute proposed amendments at the next regular meeting of the Senate. Proposed amendments must be ratified by an affirmative vote of a two-thirds majority of all voting members of the Senate present.

Senate Committees

The University Senate operates according to a modified version of Robert's Rules of Order, exceptions being established by its own by-laws. Matters coming to the full Senate for a vote must be introduced as motions in the form of a report and recommendation by a Senate Committee to which the matter has been assigned. Standing committees have mandated responsibilities for certain subject areas. Matters falling outside the responsibilities of standing committees may be handled by ad hoc committees established by the Executive Committee for this purpose.

Procedures for Standing Committees

1. With the exception of the Executive Committee, of which all its members are elected to membership, the membership of standing committees is by appointment by the Executive Committee and with consent of the appointee. The outgoing Executive Committee shall meet after the spring elections and make committee assignments for the following year. It shall take into consideration such factors as past experience, the preference of the senator, and the need for balanced and well-structured committees (see By-Law Article 2.11).
2. A standing committee will elect a Chair from among its members on an annual basis. Each committee in its first annual meeting shall adopt a schedule specifying the minimum number and dates of its meetings for the coming year.
3. The majority of the membership constitutes a quorum for meetings. Motions will be passed or defeated by the majority of those present. Other matters of meeting procedure will be settled in accordance with Robert's Rules of Order.
4. A standing committee may appoint such ad hoc sub-committees as it may deem necessary for the proper conduct of its affairs. Other members of the faculty or staff, who may or may not be members of the Senate, may be invited to serve on sub-committees.
5. A member who for any legitimate reason, such as sabbatical leave or leave of absence, is unable to participate in committee meetings for a protracted period of time may be replaced by a substitute member chosen by the Executive Committee.
6. In the event of the resignation or incapacity to serve by a committee Chair or Secretary during the academic year, the Senate Chair must be informed. It is the responsibility of the out-going Chair or Secretary to arrange for his or her successor through election by the committee concerned.
7. The absence of a committee member from three consecutive announced meetings of the senate or three consecutive announced meetings of a committee shall be reported to the Senate Chair and Executive Committee.

ROBERT'S RULES OF ORDER

Outline Prepared by Professor N. Hopkins, updated 2013

The Senate has decided that in its deliberations it will follow Robert's Rules of Order, except when it has established its own by-laws on a particular point. It may be useful to summarize some of those rules, at least as they affect our deliberations at AUC. The following is such a summary.

Principles: The right of the majority ultimately to rule, the right of the minority to be heard, the right of the individual to participate. The principle of one thing at a time. The principle of balance between affirmative and negative. The need for rules to ensure orderly progress: the rules rule.

Motions: Before any subject is open to debate, there must be a motion, a second, and a statement by the chair. Sometimes brief informal comments may be made before the chair states the motion. We have followed the practice of assuming that a text reported by a committee is already moved and seconded (and circulated to the members), and the chair refers to it to open debate. Each motion must be disposed of before the Senate proceeds to another motion of the same type. Motions take effect immediately upon their adoption unless otherwise specified. [As a practice; matter, we delay the approval considerably, as over the summer.]

Amendments: The motion can be amended, and the amendment can be amended, but no further. Amendments can delete text, add text, delete and add text, or provide an entire substitute text. Amendments must be seconded and are debatable. Two amendments may be under consideration simultaneously. A motion may be made, as an amendment, to divide the motion; this requires a vote. Once made, a motion can only be withdrawn by a vote. It is not enough for the mover of a motion to accept an amendment; it must be accepted by the Senate, either by unanimous consent or through the normal amending procedure. [Whenever possible, senators should prepare written texts of amendments they intend to make, however short, for the convenience of the secretary and to allow circulation of the text to those present.]

Subsequent motions dealing with the same area, but different than the original motion, cannot normally be decided on until they have been referred to a committee for examination (Motion to refer.)

Debate: In debate a member must confine himself to the question immediately before the assembly, and avoid personalities. To do otherwise is to risk being declared out of order. Debate may be closed off by a 2/3 vote to that effect, or by "moving the previous question" (calling for a vote which also requires a 2/3 vote). Debate may also be limited. Any motion to suspend the rules requires a 2/3 majority.

Voting: Voting is normally by a show of hands but may be by paper ballot or electronically when the senator is present in the meeting, when the Senate so decides or when the Chair so rules. All election voted will be by paper ballot or electronically when the senator is present in the meeting. When there is a tie vote, the motion is rejected. Abstentions have no effect on the calculation of votes; a majority is more than half the votes cast by legal voters unless otherwise specified.

Quorum: Unless there is a rule to the contrary, a quorum is a majority of the members. The rule regarding a quorum cannot be suspended. However, the rule of the quorum is that members be present, not that they vote.

A point of order is an assertion that a rule is being violated.

Other Motions: The motion to "lay on the table" [to table] is to remove the main motion from consideration and entrust it to the care of the secretariat until its consideration is resumed by the assembly at an unspecified future time. The motion is not in order when another member has the floor, requires a second, is undebatable, is unamendable, requires a majority vote, and cannot be reconsidered. An alternative to "tabling" is to postpone until a specified time. The procedure for taking a motion from the table is the same. A motion may be referred to a committee; the committee cannot change the motion, but may propose changes, including substitute motions.

Motions to adjourn can be made at any time. It is a "privileged motion". It requires a second, is undebatable, is amendable, requires a majority vote for adoption, and cannot be reconsidered. The motion to recess is similar.

This is based on The Modern Edition of Robert's Rules of Order, original 1876 Text by Major Henry M. Robert, completely revised by Darwin Patnode, New York: Berkeley Books, 1989.

081 96/97 Admissions Policy for British Degrees 1997-98

To be considered for admission to AUC, holders of British Certificates must meet or exceed the following minimum requirements:

A minimum grade in nine (9) GCE/GCSE/IGCSE subjects of which at least one is at the advanced level (A-level), OR

A minimum grade in ten (10) GCE/GCSE/IGCSE subjects of which at least two are at the advanced/supplement level (A/S-level)

The minimum grade is "C" for ordinary level (O level) and (A/S-level). For 1997-1998 it is "D" for the (A-level) subjects. It should be noted that subjects taken at both the A/S and A levels are not double counted. Meeting the minimum requirements does not guarantee admissions. Admission to the University is based on the available places and the student's overall performance. Exceeding the minimum requirements in both the number of courses and grades, at the O, A/S, and A-levels is taken into consideration in admitting applicants. The University emphasizes that performance at the A and A/S levels is the dominant factor in prioritizing candidates for Admissions.

Resolution on Nepotism (to be placed at the end of chapter 5)

“The American University in Cairo seeks to foster an environment where members of its community are treated with respect and trust. Employment of family members may be problematic because such situations can create a conflict of interest and possibility of favoritism. Because of these concerns, the University is sensitive to circumstances in which relatives of employees might be hired, transferred, or promoted to positions where one relative might have influence over any of the following: a relative's employment, performance review, salary administration, promotion, or other employment-related decisions.

If a relationship develops during the course of employment that would violate this policy, the University will work with the individuals involved to resolve the situation. In all cases, the needs of the University determine the resolution. The responsible supervisor should take measures in consultation with the appropriate dean/area head. If an approved employment relationship exists where individuals work together in the same department, evaluation and recommendations concerning performance and/or salary will be accomplished at the next higher level of supervision.

The University requires full disclosure of any relationship as defined below to the dean/area head at the time of employment or at any time that it occurs in the course of employment.

Relationships covered by this policy include: spouse, parents, grandparents, brothers, sisters, children, grandchildren, aunts, uncles, nephews, nieces, and relatives by marriage (in-laws).”
