5 Phases We Have Gone Through

The Shock

Survival

Acceptance

Improvement

The Future?

3 Principles We Must Remember

1. Our goal is Student Learning
2. This is new for both faculty & students. We need to adapt to the new realities
3. There are positives out there for us to embrace

6 Tips To Consider

Tip #1:

We are not there alone! Students are suffering too. Listen to them

Tip #2:

Get to know the students early on, and show your empathy

Tip #3:

Motivation and trust lead to interactions. It is not just about the tools!

Tip #4:

Online tools are quite effective! Use polls, chats, breakout rooms...

Tip #5:

Group meetings lead to a stronger connection. Seek feedback there

Tip #6:

Don't be obsessed with assessments. Remember it is a learning tool

Key Takeaways

- Our goal is Student Learning
- Gain students' Trust and get to Know them early on
- Students appreciate your Empathy; it is a critical Motivation for them to learn
- Seek one-to-one Feedback
- Remember that Assessment is a learning tool

It Is All About The Mindset!
