UNIVERSITY MISSION

The American University in Cairo (AUC) is a premier English-language institution of higher learning. The University is committed to teaching and research of the highest caliber, and offers exceptional liberal arts and professional education in a cross-cultural environment. AUC builds a culture of leadership, lifelong learning, continuing education and service among its graduates, and is dedicated to making significant contributions to Egypt and the international community in diverse fields. Chartered and accredited in the United States and Egypt, The American University in Cairo is an independent, not-for-profit, equal-opportunity institution. AUC upholds the principles of academic freedom and is dedicated to excellence.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF AUC

The American University in Cairo (AUC) is an independent, not-for-profit institution offering English language, American-style liberal arts and professional undergraduate and graduate education to students from Egypt, the region, and around the world. In Egypt, AUC operates within the framework of a 1975 protocol with the government of Egypt; this protocol is based on a 1962 cultural relations agreement between the Egyptian and the U.S. governments. In the United States, the University is licensed to grant degrees and is incorporated within the State of Delaware.

AUC was founded in 1919 as both a preparatory school and a university by a group of Americans devoted to education and service in the Middle East. Its founding president, Dr. Charles Watson, wanted to create an English-language university based on high standards of conduct and scholarship and to contribute to the intellectual growth, discipline, and character of the future leaders of Egypt and the region. At first an institution only for males, AUC enrolled its first female student in 1928, the same year the first university class graduated. In 1950, AUC added its first graduate programs to its ongoing bachelor of arts, bachelor of sciences, graduate diploma, and continuing education programs, and in 1951, phased out the preparatory school program. By the mid-1970s, the University offered a broad range of liberal arts and sciences programs. In the following years, the University added bachelors, masters, and diploma programs in engineering, management, computer science, journalism and mass communication and sciences programs, as well as establishing a number of research centers in strategic areas, including business, the social sciences, philanthropy and civic engagement, and science and technology. AUC now offers 37 bachelor's degrees, 44 master's degrees, and 2 doctoral degrees in applied sciences and engineering in addition to a wide range of graduate diplomas in five schools: Business, Global Affairs and Public Policy, Humanities and Social Sciences, Sciences and Engineering, and the Graduate School of Education.

Academic program enrollments have grown to over 5,400 undergraduates with an additional 1,065 graduate students (Fall 2016). Simultaneously, adult education has also expanded and now serves more than 22,000 students each year in non-credit courses and contracted training programs offered through the School of Continuing Education. Ninety-six percent of AUC students are Egyptian, with the remaining 4% comprised of nationalities from around the world.

Long considered a leader in higher education in the region, the University has sought national, regional, and international accreditation as a means of fostering excellence in governance and academics. In addition to its accreditation by the Middle States Commission on Higher Education, AUC is the first university in Egypt to receive accreditation from Egypt's new National Authority for Quality Assurance and Accreditation in Education (NAQAAE) at the institutional level, and the School of Sciences and Engineering at the school level. In addition, many of AUC's academic programs have received specialized accreditation.

For most of its nearly 100-year history, AUC was located on a nine-acre campus in the heart of downtown Cairo, a city of more than 18 million people and the largest urban area in the Middle East and North Africa. In 1997, the University decided to relocate the campus to the planned community of New Cairo and use the opportunity of building an entirely new campus to create a "City of Learning", designed to embody the University's liberal arts tradition and provide room for growth. The University launched a very successful $100 million comprehensive capital campaign in 2003 to raise construction funds as well as additional monies for scholarships, professorships, and other strategic areas. In 2008, the University moved its academic programs from its downtown campus to a purpose-built 260-acre campus in the Cairo suburbs. The downtown campus was refurbished to secure the growing continuing and professional education programs as well as promote cultural and public service programs more widely.

Since its move to the new campus, the University has explored ways to make best use of the beautiful, state of the art facilities for academic and co-curricular programs, students, faculty, the staff, and the community. Political, economic, and social upheaval in Egypt and the region following the uprising of 2011 greatly affected the entire AUC community but also reinforced the importance of AUC's mission and the role it plays in the region.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The student government at The American University in Cairo is divided into three branches: an executive branch, represented by the Student Union; a legislative branch, represented by the Student Senate; and a judicial branch, represented by the Student Court.

The Student Union (SU) is the highest executive body and authority of the General Assembly and operates in accordance with the Constitution of the General Assembly of the student body. The SU represents both full-time and part-time students at the university and serves to unite and develop the student body. Members must be enrolled at AUC as full-time students, with good academic and social standing.

The Student Senate is the highest legislative authority and is the link between the SU and the General Assembly. The Student Senate is responsible for overseeing the performance of the SU and initiating legislature for the General Assembly in accordance with the Constitution. SS members are representatives from various constituencies of the student body: undergraduate students from different majors as well as ELI and undeclared students, graduate students and international students. The work of the Senate is divided among several committees: Legislative, Monitoring, External Affairs, Public Opinion, Clubs and Conferences, Large Scale Events, Press Board, Sports, and the Graduate Student Senate Ad-Hoc Committee.

The Student Court is a monitoring body, run by and for students. It addresses specific student concerns, and members are elected on an annual basis. The Student Court ensures that the SU and all clubs abide by the respective independent constitutions, as well as general University policy. The Court also ensures that SU members and club officers fulfill their responsibilities in a transparent and competent manner and monitors the presidential elections, so as to ensure an objective and impartial electoral process. On an individual level, the Student Court hears complaints of students against fellow students and tries to resolve conflicts by acting as a peer mediator. The Student Court is represented in the Student Disciplinary Committee, which addresses students' misconduct, both in and out of class. The committee also monitors compliance with the University Drug and Alcohol Policy and works in cooperation with the University's Academic Integrity Committee.

More information on student government at AUC is available at http://www.aucegypt.edu/studentlife/involve/gov/Pages/Home.aspx.

ACCREDITATION

Accreditation is a mark of excellence indicating endorsement by peer reviewers. Accreditation is critically important to universities, especially in a global context where prospective students, faculty members and employers view it as a measure of academic excellence and institutional quality. The self-study process, which involves participants from every unit of the institution, is an opportunity to examine where the university and/or its programs stand in terms of best practices, focus efforts on areas that need enhancement and changes, and define new challenges in academic endeavors and organizational matters. More information on AUC's accreditation is available at http://www.aucegypt.edu/about/about-auc/accreditation

Full-time Student: A student who is enrolled in at least 12 credits at the undergraduate level or at least nine credits at the graduate level.

Full-time Equivalent (FTE): Each full-time student is counted once. Part-time students are counted based on the percentage of full-time credit hours attempted.

Gender: The sex, either male (M) or female (F) of the student.

Headcount: The number of students, regardless of whether that student is full-time or part-time

Major: AUC offers courses of study leading to bachelor's degrees in various academic fields. Undergraduates must select a major and fulfill the requirements of the department offering the degree.

Nationality: Nationality is reported as primary nationality. If a student has more than one nationality, the primary nationality is the one that appears first on the admissions application.

International: Students whose primary nationality is other than Egyptian.

Re-Admit Student: A student who was enrolled at AUC, left for one or more semesters, and then reenrolled at AUC. Re-admit students might or might not have earned credits at a different institution prior to re-enrolling at AUC.

Retention Rate: The percentage of enrolled students who return to the university during a specific time frame. In this report, first-year to second-year retention is reported; this is the percentage of first-time first-year students enrolled in the first year who return for their second year.

Transfer Student: A transfer student is a student who earned credits at a different institution prior to enrolling at AUC.

Selectivity: The percentage of student applicants that are admitted to the university.

Study-Abroad Program: Students pay the tuition fees of the host university and spend a semester or a year abroad.

Undeclared: A student who is enrolled at the university but has not yet declared a major.

Unduplicated Headcount: Each student, full-time or part-time, is counted once, regardless of the number of majors or programs in which he/she is enrolled.

Yield: The percentage of student applicants admitted to the university who actually enroll.

²¹ The six-year completion rate is the percentage of degree seeking freshman (not including transfers and readmits) that were enrolled for the first time in the Fall and completed requirements and graduated within a six-year period.

²² Many AUC students take more than four years to complete their undergraduate studies because of the need for one or more semesters of remedial English before starting their coursework. In addition, AUC's popular engineering programs require five years of study to complete.

STUDY ABROAD PROGRAMS

Each year, students from dozens of colleges and universities across North America and around the world enroll at AUC for one or more terms, usually during their third or junior year. Applicants for the Exchange/Study Abroad Program must be enrolled in a program of study at a college or university that has an exchange/study abroad agreement with AUC. Exchange/Study Abroad students may attend AUC for no more than two semesters and a summer session. In addition, AUC offers its degree-seeking students a wide variety of exchange/study abroad opportunities, for a semester or an academic year. AUC has established several exchange and study abroad agreements, with countries that include India, Scotland, Norway, Netherlands, Switzerland, Tunisia, South Africa, Japan, Singapore, Denmark, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Poland, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Turkey, Lebanon, Qatar, Canada, and the US. A full listing of the participating universities, in addition to further description of both undergraduate and graduate programs are available at:

The Goldman Sachs 10,000 Women Entrepreneurship and Leadership Program

10,000 Women is a global initiative supported by The Goldman Sachs Foundation that provides women entrepreneurs around the world with practical business education, business advising, and networking. Designed in partnership with Babson College, one of the top-ranked entrepreneurship schools in the world, the 10,000 Women curriculum focuses on practical skills in topics such as planning, negotiation, marketing, and employee management that can immediately be put into practice. Applicants selected for the 10,000 Women program in Egypt receive a world-class business education at The American University in Cairo (AUC) and connections to a professional support network. The program at AUC has graduated 412 entrepreneurs since its inception in 2008 to date.

Executive Education (ExecEd)

The AUC School of Business Executive Education (ExecEd) offers globally-recognized executive education programs in four areas: open enrolment, customized programs, collaborative programs, and senior executive programs. The programs feature management curricula that are customized for the needs of executives at all levels who are working in diverse companies: such as multinationals, banking institutions, government agencies, and small and medium sized enterprises. The programs empower executives with the knowledge, relationships, and leadership tools necessary to drive results at all levels of management.

ExecEd collaborates closely and engages with corporate clients to identify key business challenges and develop tailored and innovative solutions with a real business impact. Program impact is measured after the completion of the program to assess the learning experience on the business results of the participants' organizations. Currently, the School of Business Executive Education conducts 23 open enrollment post graduate degree programs, about 60 customized programs per year, and numerous executive development programs and forums. All told, 350 courses are offered annually. Currently, ExecEd trains about 4,800 participants per year representing a seat count of about 10'000, both in Egypt as well as The Gulf.

COMMUNITY-BASED LEARNING

The Academic Community Engagement Program (ACE), in the Office of the Dean of Undergraduate Studies, advocates for and helps organize a wide range of community engagement activities for the AUC community, and has played a key role in developing the co-curricular transcript and a variety of outreach projects. Its main focus, however, is on Community-Based Learning (CBL). CBL is an educational approach that is incorporated into a course or series of courses by way of a project that has both learning and community action goals, and that is designed and implemented through collaboration among faculty, students and community partners, such as non-governmental organizations or government agencies. The project asks students to apply course content to community-based activities, and to reflect critically on how they, and the community, have been transformed. This gives students experiential opportunities to learn in real world contexts and develop skills of community engagement, while affording community partners opportunities to address significant needs. Active engagement is at the heart of how AUC understands its educational mission: ACE aims to foster responsible citizenship and active participation among our students, instilling in them social awareness, confidence in shaping a brighter future, and a passion for life-long learning.

Research

RESEARCH CENTERS

Access to Knowledge for Development Center

The Access to Knowledge for Development Center (A2K4D) was launched in 2010 as a culmination of collaborative research activities since 2007 on access to knowledge in Egypt in partnership with global partners.

A2K4D fosters rigorous policy-oriented research that conceptualizes and investigates the economic and legal challenges that face access to knowledge, and their implications on human development in Egypt, the Arab world and Africa. The Center's research helps devise well thought-out models that overcome barriers to knowledge access, may they be legal, economic, technical, political, social and/or cultural. In particular, A2K4D research helps develop business models that address the tension between the interests of knowledge users and producers, and offer novel entrepreneurship opportunities and knowledge governance solutions. A2K4D research also aims to provide policy makers, negotiators and international representatives with well-researched intellectual property alternatives that advance knowledge production and dissemination in developing countries.

A2K4D strives to promote access and contribution to knowledge to advance human development in Egypt, the Arab World and Africa. It promotes rigorous multidisciplinary empirical research that capitalizes on the role of knowledge in promoting human development, and uses a bottom up evidence-based approach to address national and regional developmental needs.

In collaboration with international partners, A2K4D launched the Access to Knowledge Global Academy in 2008, promoting research and advocacy on the equitable production and distribution of knowledge goods and tools. A2K4D is the recipient of the Richard Bartlett Gift to support collaboration with Yale Law School's Information Society Project. The center is also a participant in the Global Network of Internet and Society Centers, championed by Harvard's Berkman Center for Internet and Society. Additionally, A2K4D serves as the North African Hub of the Open African Innovation Research Partnership.

Center for Migration and Refugee Studies

The Center for Migration and Refugee Studies (CMRS) is an interdisciplinary center of the School of Global Affairs and Public Policy at AUC. Situated at the heart of the Middle East and North Africa, it aims at furthering scientific knowledge of the large, longstanding, and more recent, refugee and migration movements in this region. It is also concerned with questions of refugees and migration in the international system as a whole, at theoretical and practical levels. CMRS functions include education, research, training and outreach. It offers an MA in migration and refugee studies as well as a graduate diploma in the same field, working with other AUC departments to offer diversified multidisciplinary courses to its students. Its research bears on issues of interest to the region and beyond. In carrying it out, CMRS collaborates with reputable regional and international academic institutions, as well as international and nongovernmental organizations. The training activities CMRS organizes are attended by researchers, policymakers, bureaucrats and civil society activists from countries all over the world. It also provides tailor-made training programs on demand. CMRS outreach involves working within its environment, disseminating knowledge and sensitization to refugee and migration issues. Center for Sustainable Development

The mission of the Center for Sustainable Development (CSD) is to guide sustainable development efforts in Egypt, the region and beyond by providing holistic academic programs, applied interdisciplinary research and community services for improving lives and livelihoods while safeguarding natural resources for the future generations to come. With respect to education, CSD is committed to promoting the integration of sustainable development principles into the teaching practices of educators. CSD offers an interdisciplinary Graduate Diploma and Masters of Science in sustainable development by bringing research centers, along with four AUC schools together, in collaboration with national and international institutions to educate innovative and visionary leaders with a holistic understanding of the developmental challenges in today's world. In addition, CSD focuses on interdisciplinary research, raising funds, and coordinating efforts that place the Water-Energy-Food Nexus at the core of its research activities. In the CSD's quest to serve the community and contribute to helping informal areas in Egypt overcome many of their problems, the CSD is involved in ambitious, large-scale national projects that focus on educational and capacity-development activities and actions. Education for Sustainable Development Beyond the Campus (EduCamp) aims to promote Education for Sustainable Development (ESD) as a tool to face the challenges experienced in informal areas. EduCamp is the first initiative in Egypt to bring universities and schools together, creating a structured mechanism for the purpose of introducing ESD in public schools nationwide.

Definitions

Academic year: Fall and Spring semesters of a given academic year

Fiscal year: The twelve-month period of July 1 of one year to June 30 of the following year. Prior to FY2013, the fiscal year was September 1 of one year to August 31 of the following year. A change in the fiscal year was made in 2013, which was a transitional 10-month period of September 1, 2012 to June 30, 2013.

Operating revenues and expenditures:

Operating revenue:

Academic program tuition: Undergraduate and graduate tuition

Endowment income and annual gifts: Endowments are permanent funds established to provide institutions with a regular source of investment income. A portion of the income earned from endowment fund investments is returned to the endowment so that the endowment can be maintained in real terms to provide a hedge against inflation. Annual giving and AID/ASHA support are two separate sources of funds, where the former represents funds from private sources in the form of gifts from corporations, alumni, supporters, members of the governing board and friends, and the latter is institutional support awarded on a competitive basis by the US government.

Auxiliaries: Income from self-supporting activities, including student housing and the AUC Press and Bookstores.

Adult education: Income from adult and continuing education services

Research and sponsorships: Income that supports specific research activities. This category includes restricted and unrestricted grants and contracts provided by governments, international agencies and private organizations and individuals.

Miscellaneous: Includes income generated from other sources and supplementary activities.

Operating expenditures:

Instruction and academic support: This category includes expenditures for all activities that are part of an institution's instructional programs and for activities that directly support the instruction function, such as the Library, Deans' offices, audiovisual and media services, and others.

Administration and general: The expenses of all activities of administrative offices, regardless of executive level, including student services that are not related to instruction and academic support

Auxiliaries: Expenditures from self-supporting activities, including student housing and the AUC Press and Bookstores

Operations and maintenance of plant: This category includes all expenditures of current operating funds for the operation and maintenance of the university's physical plant. It includes all expenditures for operations established to provide services and maintenance related to grounds and facilities.

Adult education: Expenditures related to providing adult and continuing education services

Research and Sponsorship: This category includes all expenditures for activities specifically organized to produce research outcomes, whether commissioned by an agency external to the institution or separately budgeted by an organizational unit within the institution.

Contingency and miscellaneous: All expenditures that are incurred from other uses and supplementary activities. The contingency fund is used for unplanned expenses.

Tuition: The amount of money charged to students for instructional services. Tuition may be charged per term, per course, or per credit. For undergraduate and graduate students, tuition is charged per credit hour.

Total Cash Received: The actual cash received from pledge payments and outright gifts.

Total Fund Raised: The amount of new pledges and outright gifts.

Alumni: This is defined as persons who have enrolled at the American University in Cairo and have completed at least one semester of classes and all persons who have received an honorary degree from the university. This includes students enrolled in programs that do not result in a degree, such as study-abroad, special, and diploma programs.

CAMPUS SUSTAINABILITY

In September 2011, AUC affirmed its commitment to environmental sustainability and reducing its carbon footprint by creating the Office of Sustainability. This office is responsible for addressing AUC's environmental challenges, including climate change, resource scarcity, pollution and waste management, in ways that also improve the University's operations, strengthen its finances and enhance its reputation. Since that time, the Office of Sustainability has worked with campus partners to document and address issues related to AUC's environmental impact. The Office of Sustainability also works closely with RISE to encourage sustainable practices among the student body and in campus life.

From 2011 to 2016, AUC reduced its energy consumption university-wide by 35%, and from 2012 to 2016, AUC reduced its total water consumption at the New Cairo campus by more than 20%.

Campus Recycling

In spring 2013, AUC launched a recycling program, installing sorting stations for campus waste as a first step in developing a trash management system on campus. There are thirteen sorting stations installed on campus, originally installed in February 2013. By early March 2014, the University had also installed 30 mini sorting stations. In the past year, the sorting stations were updated and constructed with a new, more durable material to facilitate easier maintenance.

The Clean and Green committee is comprised of both faculty and staff, and it oversees progress towards the ultimate goal of reducing waste on campus. In 2015, AUC installed a new compacting machine that compresses separated plastic, cans, and paper. The compacted parcels are then sold to commercial recyclers to generate profit for other campus sustainability initiatives. AUC also donates used paper to a recycling NGO.

Carbon Footprint Report

In 2012, the Office of Sustainability and the university's Desert Development Center, now the Research Institute for Sustainable Environments, developed the AUC Carbon Footprint Report. It was the first attempt in the Middle East and North Africa region to measure a university's carbon footprint. In April 2015, AUC published its third report, including seven sets of specific recommendations to reduce AUC's carbon footprint. In 2016, the Office of Sustainability published a brochure detailing one day of AUC carbon emissions for AY 15. A full carbon footprint report will be available in April 2017.

Rankings and Recognition

- AUC was featured in the UNEP (United Nations Environmental Program) as a global example for low-carbon emission institutions, AUC was one of only two universities in Africa.
- In the UI Green Metric ranking, AUC is in the top third worldwide for the second year in a row. AUC is 22nd in energy and climate change, and received a perfect score in water use and conservation.
- Only College outside North American and only one in Egypt named to the Princeton Review 2015 Green Colleges Guide.
